

Blockchain

A decentralized system that combines techniques from the fields of cryptography, economics and distributed systems to enable trust amongst several parties.

Immutable, digitally signed, verifiable attestations about the life of a device.